

Annual Report 2016

Chairman's Report 2016

A year of research and collaborations

2016 was one of our busiest years ever with almost 40 events and outings run in 12 short months. Several of these events were collaborations with other organisations such as the Tower Museum, Donegal County Council, the Irish Labour History Society, Amazing Grace Festival, Feel Good Fortnight, local schools and the National Heritage Council to name but a few.

2016 got off to an exhilarating start with a well-attended hill climb and field survey of Binion Hill (Clonmany), followed in March by a field trip to an early monastic site outside Bunrana accompanied by a talk by Angela McLaughlin.

April saw the society give a whole evening of talks based around the theme of evictions and land ownership in Inishowen for the Amazing Grace Festival which featured Mari McLaughlin, myself (Dr Michael Liam Gorry) and a harrowing episode from the documentary series When Ireland Starved. Several important historical discoveries, and never before seen documents, were presented on the night. Later in the month, I was very honoured to be asked to give a talk for the Heritage Council at the Gresham Hotel in Dublin as part of their National Heritage Week organiser training day.

Studying and sharing

At the end of April former WIH&HS chair Dr Adrian Grant, with the aid of our study group, designed and facilitated a whole day of events relating to 1916 in the Northwest: 'Easter 1916 Rising: Workshop, Talk & Debate'. For the event WIH&HS successfully received a government grant from Donegal County Council.

The society's study group met many times during the first half of the year and planned our highly successful Summer School, our National Heritage Week events and our acclaimed Mabel Colhoun exhibition that ran in the great hall of the Guildhall (Derry) during the 'Festival of Archaeology' in July.

The theme of our 2016 Summer School was based around renowned 19th century trade unionist and local man, John Doherty. For the week we planned a whole range of events with highlights including riveting talks from Ultan Cowley, Dr Emmet O Connor and Dr Adrian Grant. We even had an excursion to Mamore Gap to see how some of the 19th century rural poor lived part of the year in boolie huts with archaeologist and WIH&HS Vice-chair John Hegarty.

Awards and logos

June saw the Chairman (myself), the Treasurer (Andrew Garvey-Williams) and the Vice-chair (John Hegarty) travel to Kilkenny to receive our National Heritage Week organiser award from the Heritage Council for best 2015 NHW event ('Archaeology for Kids/Fun Day') in the category 'Cool for Kids'.

Bringing history to life...

New member John Mc Carron, in collaboration with our study group, helped design and perfect the society's new logo, which in turn led to the creation of our new pop up screen (designed by our study group and Andrew Garvey-Williams). John also set up our new Twitter page.

Archives, art and fundraising

In August, we ran one of our most diverse National Heritage Week programmes ever, featuring everything from early medieval themed walks to family fun days. Highlights included a walk around Dunree hill and beach with John Hegarty, an illustrated talk in Star of the Sea Church by Liam McLaughlin and a full house in our headquarters (The Exchange) for Dr Larry McNutt's fascinating talk about the history of Buncrana.

The end of the year saw research committee trips to PRONI in Belfast, a Lough Swilly railway research field trip, and preparation for our upcoming cataloguing of the Mabel Colhoun collection. In December, John McCarron and Andrew Garvey-Williams designed and built an amazing WIH&HS Christmas Tree for St Mary's Oratory as part of the 2016 Buncrana Christmas Tree Festival. At the end of the year, Quiz Master Dermot Quigley and WIH&HS Secretary Lisa Henderson organised our ever popular end of year fundraiser the WIH&HS Christmas quiz.
